school patrons complained that the board could not know if a policy might work if the board would not try the new procedure.

Louie Ladner moved his motion be accepted, which was seconded by Monvel Cuevas and adopted by a unanimous vote.

Also at Saturday's meeting, district patron Jean Halterlein accused the board of "setting the system back 100 years" by allowing individuals to illegally remove trees from 16th Section Land without prosecuting them.

The issue stems from individuals who were allegedly removing oak trees from land rented by International Paper Company without authorization.

"What I want to know is have you put the firewood up for grabs or pressed charges. Firewood costs $80 a cord," Halterlein said.

Woodrow Ladner told Halterlein the individuals in question were removing trees which were cut down earlier, adding the family needed the wood to heat their homes.

"This is a purely humanitarian thing to do," Ladner said.

Halterlein said the board is giving school property away.

"You are giving school property away, and it is setting us back 100 years. It is a sad situation," Halterlein told the board.

"That is true, but what we are talking about is a few people who wandered into the woods and cut hardwood to heat their homes," Ladner said.

"Well, if I just wandered into a bank and robbed it to pay my house note, I would get arrested," Halterlein countered.

"In my opinion, this was just another political move by the board not in the best interest of the school system," she added. Board Member Oris Ladner said a forester had told the board the trees in question were already cut and dead. "I am not going to prosecute somebody for picking up dead trees," Monvel Cuevas said.

After more discussion, during which a number of school patrons called the act of removing wood from school-owned land "stealing," Louie Ladner moved that the school system establish a permit system to allow wood removal, stipulating that anyone caught removing wood without a permit be prosecuted.

The motion was seconded by Cuevas and approved unanimously.

In other business Saturday, 16th Section Land Coordinator Terrel Randolph reported he has leased six sections of school-owned land for a total of $804.60 each year.

Randolph also told the board that the district cannot spend royalties collected on oil and mineral leases, explaining that money must be kept in a principle fund.

He added, however, the system may be used to obtain loans.

"The legislature wants you to have something to fall back on," Randolph told the board.

The board also authorized Board Attorney Joseph Gex to obtain an injunction against the Picayune Municipal Separate School district if that district does not return 16th Section land belonging to the Hancock County District.

The land was transferred to the Picayune District some years ago by another school board, and recently the present board discussed regaining possession of the land.

Sills said the Picayune schools have advertised for mineral exploration of those lands, and Louie Ladner suggested the board take injunctive action to prevent the Picayune District from leasing the Hancock land. The board unanimously authorized the lawyer to file an injunction against the Picayune schools.

In other business, the board: —Reviewed plans for a handicapped center at the Hancock North Central campus;

—Payment of $1,400 to Hancock Supply Company in Bay St. Louis for water fountains at HNC;

—Compensation of $404 to Sills for a trip to Washington, D.C. to discuss Federal Impact Aid; and —Took under advisement a recommendation to renew a contract on J.D. Martin as agriculture instructor at the schools.

affair. "Disciplinary matters regarding students are handled by school authorities," Brother Eldon said Friday.

"If we feel the parents need to know, we notify them, and in some cases we call in the law enforcement agencies," he continued.

"We appreciate the cooperation between the school and the parents and law enforcement agencies," he added.

North Bay Elementary Principal Rogers James said no drug problems are occurring at his school, but conceded, "I am not saying (drug abuse) is not going on here, but I have not caught any students at it."

Bay Senior High Principal Robert Magee said no disciplinary action has been taken against students at that school for drug abuse, adding, "I don't think drugs are a big problem here." Waveland Elementary Principal James Baldree also said he has not taken any disciplinary action against students at that school.

"There are no cases of drug abuse here," Baldree said.

Thad Haskins, principal of Hancock North Central High School, said no cases have been brought to his attention this year.

"We had a few cases of drug abuse last Spring, but nothing in the senior or junior high school this year," Haskins reported.

HNC Elementary Principal James O'Hara said Friday, "There is no drug problem here that I know of," adding no disciplinary action has been taken against any student for drug use at that school.

Roland Summers, acting principal at Charles B. Murphy Elementary in Pearlinton, said no drug problem exists at that school.

"We go through the eighth grade here. I know of no student who uses drugs here," Summers said.

Gulfview Elementary School Principal William Haddock was not available for comment Friday.

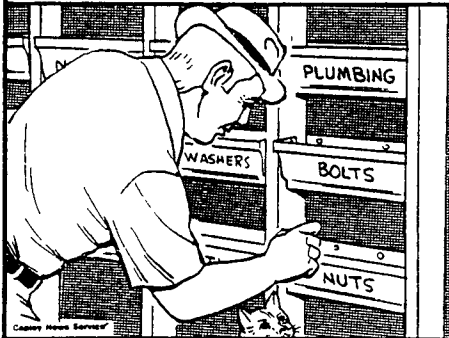

Michael Bonney, principal at Pass Christian Middle School, said he has not had "one single case of drug abuse reported this year."

"I am not saying drugs are not around, but they are kept well hidden if they are. I hope they stay that way," Bonney said Friday.

Fred Wagner voting no.

Ronnie Murray, project administrator said, "Three property owners have strong objections to easements requested by the City. I think we should hear from them even if we don't agree with them."

Hancock Realty, McDonald Realty and Coast Electric Power Association own the property on which easements are required.

Councilman Wagner said, "I can't vote for the motion. I think we are moving too quickly. We cannot advertise until we know exactly where the lift station will be placed."

Farve said the project is particularly in his district, and agreed with Wagner in voting against the advertising.

YOU AND YOUR PET

By Robert L. Stear, D.V.M.

Preparing Your Pet To Show

Not so long ago, cat and dog shows were considered to be the reserve of purebred animals with extensive pedigrees.

However, an increasing number of shows now include a few classes for non-pedigreed household pets and some shows are exclusively for everyday pets.

If you would like to try showing a cat or dog, there are many shows to choose from: specialty breed shows, general pet shows, cat shows, dog shows. You can locate them in your local newspaper, occasionally on flyers posted in local supermarkets, and in pet publication advertising columns.

Once you've made your choice—perhaps with the help of a friend familiar with the local pet show circuit—contact the show clerk for an entry application and show information. You'll need to know about entry fees, the schedule of classes and general show regulations.

For the best results, you should start preparing your pet some months before actual show time. Some of this preparation will be required by show rules.

Most shows require that cats be vaccinated against feline enteritis, rhinotracheitis and caliciviruses.

Dogs need protection against distemper and other contagious diseases.

Do not assume that you can skip the vaccinations because the others pets will be protected.

Disease-causing viruses may enter the hall at any time, on the clothing of spectators or with air currents, and your pet may sicken when you return home.

Fleas, mange or other skin infections will generally prevent your pet's entrance into the showhall. Eliminate these hazards by the time you send in your show registration.

Some external parasites are extremely persistent, responding only to specific treatment. These include ear mites in cats, and mange in dogs. Your veterinarian can supply the appropriate prescription medication.

Basically, you want your pet to look like the champion it is. Plan to bathe your pet about two or three weeks before the show. Bathing too close to show date can remove much of the natural oil that produces a shiny, glossy coat.

Daily brushing from bath day to show date will keep the coat in good shape.

Cat and dog show classes are arranged so that animals of a certain type are compared against one another. There will be separate classes for kittens, females, and males at a cat show. Long-haired cats will compete separately from short-haired cats.

Each animal is judged several times, by different judges. At the end of the show, winners from the various divisions may compete against each other for additional awards.

Unlike pure-bred classes, there are no specific standards within "household pet" classes.

A household pet judge evaluates the pet's cleanliness and general appearance. He or she will also consider the animal's personality and age. A friendly, alert pet presents a better image than a poorly groomed, uncooperative one.

If your pet likes attention, is in good condition and is cooperative, it could be a ribbon winner.

Headstart Centers plan food service

The Mount Zion Headstart Center in Pearlington and the Bay-Waveland Headstart Center has announced a summer food service program will be operated at both centers beginning June 9 through August 1.

Cheerleaders

at PRJC

Pearl River College will hold cheerleader tryouts Thursday April 10 at 3:30 p.m. in the PRC Coliseum.

Cheerleaders from a senior college will judge the candidates according to rhythm, appearance, personality, and learning ability.

According to Ann Morris, PRC cheerleader sponsor, six of the eight cheerleader spots are open.

This year's Pearl River cheerleaders will be on hand to teach the candidates cheers which will enable each participant to exhibit his or her sense of rhythm and ability to learn.

Each candidate will be responsible for doing one cheer that will display his or her ability. Past cheerleading experience is helpful but not essential.

Summer school dorms offered at Perkinston

For the first time since 1965, Perkinston Campus of Gulf Coast Junior College will open its dormitories this year for summer school, announced Executive Dean Clyde E. Strickland. Day and evening classes will be offered.

Academic and vocational-technical courses will be taught, depending upon demand. Academic courses will include secretarial science, science, math, language arts, business, social science, fine arts and reading.

Vo-tech offerings will consist of secretarial science, drafting and design, horticulture, automotive mechanics, welding, carpentry and printing.

Registration for summer classes will be in Dees Hall on May 27, beginning at 10 a.m.

For day classes and 6:30 p.m. for evening classes. Students will be charged $18 a semester hour.

Room rent will range from $5 to $7.50 for each four-week period. Five-day meal tickets may be purchased each four weeks for $63 and seven-day tickets will be $81.

A schedule for summer classes may be obtained by contacting Danny James, admissions counselor, Perkinston Campus, Perkinston or by calling 928-5211, extension 349, 333 or 200.

City-County library tells selections

By SHERRY SCHWABACHER

March! One day it's pouring, and the next day it's beach weather, and the next day you have to wear long underwear. If you've decided to stop battling the elements and hole up in your house until Spring is definitely here, make one more stop for supplies and stop any branch of the Hancock County Library System for one of the new books available there.

A GOLDEN FLEECE by Robert Upton. A book of computerized piracy in the violent world of international finance.

ICE BROTHERS by Sloan Wilson. A Greenland patrol and the crew of the Coast Guard ice trawler ARLK as a microcosm of World War II and all wars. A moving, exciting and lovely novel.

DAUGHTERS OF EVE by Lois Duncan. A gripping, contemporary novel about a girl's club and their twisted, vindictive advisor who turns them into brutal avengers of all real and imagined injuries inflicted on them by males.

THE MAN WHO CRIED by Catherine Cookson. A deeply moving novel of the Great Depression and World War II—a novel of father and son and the women who shaped them.

MEMOIRS OF ANOTHER DAY by Harold Robbins. Harold Robbins writes about the rise of the Labor Unions in the Harold Robbins-patented style.

ENDGAME by Strobe Talbott. Here's the inside story of the climactic phase of the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT); what SALT II is, how it came about, and what is at stake in this extraordinary attempt by the world's super-powers to limit their arsenal for Armageddon.

SECOND OPINION by Myron K Denney, M.D., F.A.C.S. This book takes the mystery out of surgery, describes what surgeons are really like, and clarifies when you should and should not have an operation. It discusses unnecessary surgery, incompetent surgeons, and operative failure.

Recreation one answer to drugs

The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors is to be commended for its stand in support of Gulf Regional Planning Commission's bikeway proposals.

The Chamber group supports the proposals (with the exception of any plan which would reduce the four lanes of the Bay St. Louis automobile bridge or would restrict traffic flow on the bridge in any way) based on a dire need for improved public recreation in the county.

We also see an urgent need for public recreation improvements here.

Youngsters are ingenious, and with time on their hands due to a lack of legitimate recreation, they will find new and interesting avenues to explore, even if those avenues lead to a dangerous experimentation with drugs.

There seems to be an alarming number of drug-related suspensions and expulsions of elementary as well as secondary students from the schools here this term.

When elementary school children fall asleep at their desks after ingestion of quaaludes, we are inclined to call that a 'drug problem' in Hancock County.

More and more money spent on stricter laws, ever-increasing law enforcement budgets and over-loaded court systems has produced no encouraging solutions to the 'drug problem' that we know of.

Maybe it's time to look in a new direction for a solution, like in the direction of more public recreation for children and adults.

We find it ludicrous that in a resort area such as ours with 10 miles of Gulf of Mexico shoreline, there is not one public place to launch a small boat between the end of North Beach Boulevard in Cedar Point and Bayou Cadet.

At the risk of life and limb, one might cast a line off the Bay automobile bridge if he is foolhardy enough to brave the 50 to 60-mph traffic.

Otherwise there are only the Ulman and Dunbar Avenue Public Piers in Bay St. Louis (which accommodate only a small number of people and do not extend into deep water) where a person might try to catch a fish around here.

We have provided no place to park along our beachfront. Children and adults take a grave risk jogging and riding bikes along the beach road, such as it is.

We have no public marina, no public swimming pools, and tennis courts are overgrown with weeds.

A few ballparks accommodate a limited participation in organized leagues.

We rush to provide teenagers with licenses and vehicles as soon as they are eligible, at which point many will zoom over the four lanes of the bridge at 60-miles-per-hour with a six-pack in one hand and a joint in the other!

Maybe we have a drug problem because our young people don't have anything else to do?

A time to be counted!!

Most of us received our Census forms in the mail on Friday. It is important for us to fill out these forms and return them in the mail on Tuesday, April 1.

It is very important for every household to fill out the Census report, because it can mean so much to our communities and county.

A couple years ago there was a special census taken in Hancock County at the request of the Board of Supervisors because the 1970 tally was taken right after Hurricane Camille and many residents had not rebuilt their homes at that time.

The total at the special showed 19,313 and many think it was very low. If just a few more could have been added it would have meant many extra thousands of dollars for the county with a total of over 20,000.

We ask that you contact everyone you know to be sure and make the Census report.

Revenue sharing funds are dished out by Washington according to population and all we want is for us to receive our share.

Bits-N-Pieces

By Ellis Cuevas

The old saying is that April showers bring the May flowers. We still have two days before April arrives, and we sure have had our quota of showers for April before it ever gets here.

Some of our farmers are talking about growing rice crops instead of tomatoes, peppers, beans, squash and corn.

It seems all of us are having a time in getting our ground ready for our 'necessary' garden which we at one time called our 'victory garden.'

We hope it will dry up enough to get our gardens started.

Our poor mailmen (of course some folks think they are over paid), really had a load of mail Friday with the census forms. Guess they are really lucky they do not walk anymore like they did not too many years ago.

Tuesday should be a banner day in collecting mail as well as deliveries being the first of the month and everyone returning their census forms filled out.

Time moves very fast, just think, Easter Sunday will be next weekend. I hope the ladies realize this and get busy before it is too late to purchase their Easter bonnets.

We would like to remind everyone about the Easter Sunrise Services co-sponsored by the Ministerial Association and the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce which will be held Sunday morning at 6 a.m. in front of Christ Episcopal Church. It is a beautiful sight on the lawn over-looking the water.

News

MISSISSIPPI ECONOMIC COUNCIL - THE STATE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

The Mississippi Economic Council today voiced its objections to continuing the office of chancery clerk on a fee basis and urged the Legislature to place the office on legislatively determined salaries.

"Payment of fees for filing and duplication of documents should not be eliminated," said MEC President Benton Cain of Jackson. "Those fees presently collected should continue but be placed in the county's general fund, with salaries of clerks being paid from the general fund."

The objections came on the heels of legislative action on a House measure, which would change the fee for recording documents in the chancery clerk's office which effectively raises their remuneration.

"Most of the money paid to the chancery clerks comes from the county treasuries, despite the fact that many believe only the people who use the chancery clerk's office pay for the office through filing fees," said Cain.

He explained that chancery clerks receive payments from the county for serving as county auditor, treasurer, and clerk; and in addition to compensation for specific services, other payments to chancery clerks are permitted by law from the county with no specific identification of services rendered.

"In addition to the payment of fees, county taxpayers provide office space and equipment for clerks," said Cain, "and payment by fees means the county taxpayers can never know until the end of the year what they have paid these clerks. These end-of-the-year figures reveal compensation in several counties to be too little and excessive in others."

Determination of the chancery clerk's office budget for operation should be vested in the board of supervisors—the county's legislative body—according to the MEC recommendations.

"The Council believes depositing of fees into the county treasury and payment of officials on a salary basis would permit fair and just compensation to officials and improve the management of taxpayers' dollars," said Cain.

Dear Sirs:

I protest as a Catholic in this community your irresponsible printing of the "sensational drug bust" at our catholic school.

You printed nothing but a rumor to harm and degrade a fine school. You went out and snooped around and listened to the gossips and printed it. In

You have reduced our paper to a scandal sheet; you have hurt our community with your unethical journalism.

Every person involved with our fine school should demand an apology from you.

The Hancock County School Board has done some good things for their school system.

Some things that should be done will never be done for the school system by this board or any other county school board because of what the county is all about.

The School Board has too much of a political conscience instead of a true concern for the academic recognition of the students at Hancock North Central.

True, there should be a well rounded curriculum, but academics should be top priority. Not all students can excel in band and sports, but all students can accomplish academically to some degree.

And these students comprise most of the student body, but most of the student body is ignored.

An example, the H.N.C. basketball girls did very well in the tournaments. The basketball team and cheerleaders got a day off, and I think both organizations deserve recognition.

The board ran over each other to vote it in, when the superintendent brought it up.

I suggested to them, at the same time, to give to the nine week honor role students a day off. Everybody shook their heads in agreement and then did nothing.

It would have taken the same amount of time to vote on this as it did concerning the cheerleaders and basketball girls recognition.

Honor Roll recognition is more important. Our students need academic recognition in this way (a day off) because this is what they understand.

All our students need to be commended (or bragged about).

A true professional educator does not have to be bragged about to survive, but our young scholars do need to be recognized desperately.

Wildlife group sues government agency

Emphasizing that the ocean "is not a bottomless dump", the National Wildlife Federation has filed suit against the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency to force it to phase out any of 131 unstudied ocean dumpsites which may be unsafe.

The suits are located off the coasts of nearly every coastal state in the country, including Alabama, Alaska, California, Delaware, Florida, Hawaii, Maine, Mississippi, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Oregon, South Carolina, Texas and Washington.

According to the suit, filed in U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia, EPA issued regulations on January 16 which authorized ocean dumping of "largely contaminated dredged material" at 131 unstudied ocean dumpsites for at least three years.

The regulations violate the London Ocean Dumping Convention, an international treaty, and the Marine Protection, Research, and Sanctuaries Act of 1972, says the suit. Both the treaty and the Act state that the EPA administrator is prohibited from approving ocean dumping sites that have not been studied.

Kenneth Kamlet, attorney for the NWF, explained that the dredged materials being dumped at the sites are "spoils" from harbor and river bottoms which are highly contaminated with industrial pollutants and sewage.

Undredged harbors will eventually fill up, preventing the docking of large ships.

"Obviously, navigation channels must be kept open," Kamlet said. "But the government has a responsibility to allow dredged materials to be dumped in those ocean sites which can safely handle the spoils."

Kamlet said the NWF wrote EPA administrator Douglas Costle on May 23, 1979, urging him to "hold firm" on a previously-set 1980 deadline for completing the study of ocean dumpings.

On July 12, Costle responded that "given current budget priorities and constraints, it will be necessary for EPA to continue the program as presently planned and implemented."

"While we recognize that there may be budget cutbacks," Kamlet said, "we simply cannot continue to treat the ocean as a bottomless dump. Dumping of polluted dredged material can harm the fragile marine environment. And under certain circumstances, the toxic chemical contaminants may find their way into the human food chain through seafood."

Kamlet noted that marine creatures exposed to ocean-dumped dredged material from the New York Harbor were found to be contaminated with PCBs, a toxic chemical.

"Marine organisms near all ocean dumpsites should undergo similar bioaccumulation testing," he emphasized.

In its suit, the NWF asks that EPA be required to speed up the process of approving acceptable dumpsites and phasing out those the agency finds unacceptable.

EASTER EGG HUNT

April 1 will be our annual Easter Egg Hunt and Party at Buccaneer Park from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Come one, come all! Hot dogs, chili, potato chips, lemonade, and cup cakes will be served. Please get 25 cent ticket from Pam Jones, nutrition site manager.

We need your reservation so we will know how many hot dogs to buy.

The Center will be closed for this event as we want all of you to participate and the staff will be out there to assist the Nutrition Department.

Many of our Seniors are making the cup cakes and some of the expenses will be paid with the money made on this month's breakfast. This is our way of saying Happy Easter!!

CHILD-SENIOR PARTY

Seniors will co-sponsor an Easter Party April 2 with the local Child Development Center. The children will provide the program and the seniors will provide the eggs for the hunt, and all will enjoy the multigenerational fun and games.

The party will be on the lawn of the Bay St. Louis City Hall at 9 a.m. I suspect the Mayor will have something to say to this group! He is always inviting us to come to City Hall and use these lovely grounds.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

The March birthday party was held at the Center on the fourth Monday of this month, as usual. We had a good crowd and enough special prizes for the three birthday honorees - Olga Adams, Allie May Scott, and Ethel Dorman.

The cakes are donated by Peoples Federal and Security Savings and Loan. These fine institutions donate delicious cakes every month for our party.

The prizes are donated by the following restaurants: Danny's Fried Chicken, The Homestead, The Sisters Three, Little Caesar's Family Restaurant, The Eatery, K&K Cafe, and Mitchell's Catfish House.

Our seniors love eating out, so these prizes are very much appreciated. We do thank you on their behalf.

SPECIAL EASTER SERVICE

The Reverend Charles Clark will have a special Holy Thursday service at the Center at 10 a.m. Thursday, April 3. Brother Clark always has very meaningful services for us on these special occasions and I hope that all of you will try to attend.

The Center will be closed Good Friday, April 4. Happy Easter!!

Copley News Service

Dear Mr. McCollam: Would it be all right to strip this painted serving table and refinish it natural? It appears to have been painted black over red and decorated with gold and various colored flowers and fruit. I would also like to know when it was made and how much it is worth. — E.N.C., Woodbridge, N.J.

Dear E.N.C.: Stripping is the last thing you should do. The value of these old painted pieces lies primarily in the decorated finish. Also, when you get it stripped,

It is solid maple with a bird's-eye maple back. They show every indication of being very old. — C.L.E., Tacoma, Wash.

Dear C.L.E.: These are Empire chairs and were made in the second quarter of the 19th century. My personal opinion is that these are very desirable antique chairs, but the collectors don't seem to agree. They should sell for well over $100 but frequently change hands for less.

Those who are smart enough to buy chairs like these at bargain rates will be pleased in the mid-'80s to find the value has tripled.

The upcoming campaign brings memories of hot elections in the 1890s.

The first campaign I remember was that of 1899 in which Vardaman began a political career in politics.

For about 1899, Vardaman was the most talked about man in the state. He was hated and at the same time, he was the most admired man in the state. No other man, in my opinion, has been so idolized with such adoration.

What I say about campaigns is written from the well of memory. I have not tried to document anything, but it may be some error simply stating I remember them.

In the race for 1899 were A. H. Judge Critz, and Vardaman. Vardaman was a little known while opponents were well known.

When the vote counted Vardaman was not seriously considered. He lost, leaving Critz in the seat which Longino won.

In the election Vardaman was elected Critz and E. F. No.

Vardaman was a preppy figure of a man. He was always in dress—some of them flashily dressed. He was long, abundant hair, and so long that it came down around his shoulders in the manner of the Indian chiefs.

He was said to be a dandy, which his friends affirmed. He was called "The Gracious Chief."

The first time I saw Vardaman he spoke to me at a picnic up in the Mississippi in the summer of 1903. He was a tall man with great dignity.

That day he was in a dark suit with a frock tail coat. He forgot how he walked, speaker's stand to the cheers of his supporters.

He was the kind of whom people were enthusiastically and tensely against. The middle ground.

In the beginning, speech on that summer noted the presence of a number of old veterans, to whom high tribute. Next he went into the white supremacy of his talk, prophesying of the very condition have in this country.

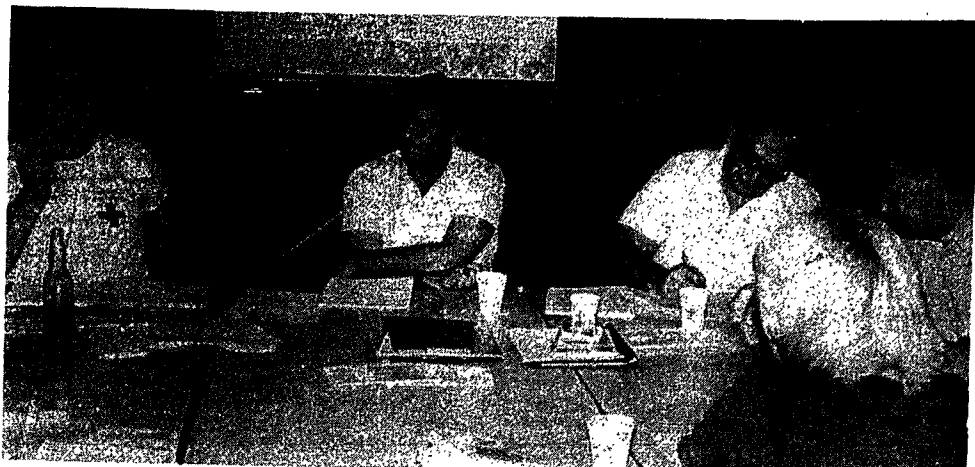

Vardaman was an orator. He held his spellbound for more than an hour.

He made his gesture grand-way, shaking to throw the long shadow. He drew big everywhere he went, something new on the scene in Mississippi.

INSTRUCTORS COURSE—Michael Welting of Atlanta, Ga., left, American Red Cross Cardio-Pulmonary Resuscitation (CPR) instructor, makes point at special classes Saturday at the Bay St. Louis Fire Department. Welting gave the course at the request of the Bay Fire Department in conjunction with the Hancock County Chapter of the American Red Cross. Some of those attending Saturday are Bob Cucuro, Alcan Cable, Brother Albert and Brother Noel, both of St. Stanislaus High School. Also participating were Sister Joan Marie, Annunciation School, Kiln; Buck Schatz, St. Tammany Parish District No. 1 Fire Department; Bo Gore, Buccaneer State Park ranger; and Stanley Strathan, Atlanta. Fire Chief Andrew Lizana said the new instructors will be giving classes in this area. Ann Penguy, Bay dispatcher, said the upcoming courses co-sponsored by the Bay Fire Department and Red Cross could help save a life. She urges as many persons as possible to attend the upcoming CPR first aid courses. (Staff photo—Ellis Cuevas).

Political campaigns different in 1900

The upcoming political campaign brings back memories of hot Mississippi elections in the long ago.

The first campaign I remember was the election of 1899 in which James K. Vardaman began his spectacular career in Mississippi politics.

For about 20 years thereafter Vardaman was the most talked about, the most hated and at the same time the most admired man on the political scene in Mississippi. No other man, in my time, has been so idolized and regarded with such adoration as was Vardaman.

What I say about political campaigns is wholly drawn from the well of my memory. I have not tried to look up or document anything, so there may be some errors. I am simply stating facts as I remember them.

In the race for governor in 1899 were A. H. Longino, Judge Critz, and James K. Vardaman. Vardaman was little known while his two opponents were well known. When the votes were counted Vardaman, at first not seriously considered was a close third, leaving Longino and Critz in the second race, which Longino won.

In the election of 1903, Vardaman was entered with Critz and E. F. Noel.

Vardaman was an impressive figure of a man. He was always immaculately dressed—some would say flashily dressed. He wore his long, abundant hair combed back, and so long that it hung down around his shoulders in the manner of the old time Indian chiefs.

He was said to be part Indian, which his looks confirmed. He was called by his admirers "The Great White Chief."

The first time I ever saw Vardaman he spoke at big picnic up in central Mississippi in the summer of 1903. He was a tall, heavy man with great dignity.

That day he was dressed in a dark suit with an old time frock tail coat. I'll never forget how he walked onto the speaker's stand to the excited cheers of his supporters, cheers of his supporters.

He was the kind of man for whom people were either enthusiastically for or intensely against. There was no middle ground.

In the beginning of his speech on that summer day he noted the presence of a number of old confederate veterans, to whom he paid high tribute. Next he went on into the white supremacy part of his talk, prophesying some of the very conditions we now have in this country.

Vardaman was a real orator. He held his audience spellbound for more than an hour.

He made his gestures in the grand way, shaking his head to throw the long hair outward. He drew big crowds everywhere he went. He was something new on the political scene in Mississippi.

By his eloquence, his impressive bearing, his earnestness and his showmanship he dominated this campaign and led in the race for governor. He won handily in the second primary over Judge Critz. Vardaman had a knack for showmanship unequalled in Mississippi politics.

When his term as governor expired, he ran for the United States Senate against John Sharp Williams. In a close election, Williams was reelected amid charges of vote stealing and irregularities.

John Sharp Williams was one of the outstanding men of his time. He was an ex-confederate soldier and was for a long time congressman from his district.

He was probably the best educated man Mississippi has ever sent to the U.S. Senate. He had a national reputation for his knowledge of government, and with his acid tongue was one of the leaders from the South for many years.

He was a small man physically, but was universally acknowledged as a big man mentally.

When Senator McLaurin died, J. K. Vardaman and Leroy Percy were contenders for the U.S. Senate.

Back then the legislature named the United States Senators in case of a vacancy. Percy was named over Vardaman after a long and bitter legislative fight in which Theo. G. Bilbo of Pearl River County figured most prominently.

In the election to the full term the next year Vardaman overwhelmingly defeated Percy.

Vardaman went on to the Senate to become one of the most talked about and one of the most written about members of that body. Vardaman was an individualist, he fitted into no mold, he was a free lancer who did and said what he, Vardaman, wanted to do and say. He was under no man's thumb. He served only his own conscience.

As a Senator, Vardaman voted against the United States going to war in World War I. He was denounced by President Wilson, along with five other Senators.

At the time, with the war hysteria, Vardaman's stand was unpopular, however many, if not most people believe he was right.

When time came for Vardaman to run for reelection he was opposed by the brilliant and scintillating young congressman from the Coast district, Pat Harrison.

In one of the most memorable campaigns in Mississippi history Harrison defeated Vardaman, the man who had been so popular just a short time before.

There were two reasons for his defeat—his unpopular vote against the war, and the brilliance of his opponent. Vardaman died a short time thereafter.

If I were asked to name the top statesman and politician of Mississippi since 1900, I would unhesitatingly say Pat Harrison.

He was without an equal as an orator, he was polished, magnetic and aggressive.

He was at one time rated one of the three most powerful and influential senators in Washington. He was recognized nationally.

Pat Harrison had only token opposition in most of his races.

Only one time, after Vardaman, did he have serious opposition, when in the latter thirties, Governor Mike Conner ran against him.

Conner had much prestige from a successful term as governor of Mississippi. He knew well people all over the state from having made several campaigns, while Harrison had been in Washington 25 years or more and knew comparatively few people.

One of the hardest campaigns in all Mississippi history took place between Harrison and Conner. Bilbo, junior senator from Mississippi strongly supported Conner. Both candidates covered the state for months.

While Conner was a smart man and had a successful record as governor, he was no match for Harrison as a campaigner.

Harrison, orator without a peer, mixed sentiment, emotion, and wit with his discussion of the planks in his platform.

Great crowds heard him all over Mississippi. It was a highly entertaining experience just to hear him talk.

Because of Bilbo's support, he called Conner Bilbo's tootsy-wootsie, which with his description of both of them never failed to bring roars of laughter.

So much interest was aroused in this campaign that people drove long distances to hear Harrison speak. I myself went with two other men from Picayune to Jackson to hear him.

So many people were on hand to hear him at this open air meeting that we could not get close enough to hear what he said.

The only time we could get Harrison to come to Picayune was at 8 a.m. on the day before the election.

Even at that early hour there was a great crowd at the YMCA to hear him. The only old confederate veteran in this area, Uncle Charlie Calhoun, was on the speaker's stand that morning.

Harrison eulogized the old Confederate soldiers so feelingly and so emotionally that Uncle Charlie started crying, and when Uncle Charlie started crying, just about everybody else there followed suit.

Harrison carried Picayune and Pearl River county by a big majority.

USM lists April cultural events

With graduation the first week in May, April at the University of Southern

Keesler produces Brahms musical

Requiem by Johannes Brahms, will be presented March 30 at 2:30 p.m. in Chapel Two at Keesler Air Force Base, Biloxi.

This selection of sacred music is most appropriate for this season of the year when all Christians look to the central truths of the faith: the death and resurrection of Jesus Christ.

Adam Ortiz, chairman of the music department at Jefferson Davis Campus, Mississippi Gulf Coast Junior College, and music coordinator for the base chapels, will be the conductor.

The string section of the Gulf Coast Symphony Orchestra will accompany the approximately 100 singers from both base and community who have been rehearsing for many weeks. Bernard McDaniel will play organ accompaniment.

The final dress rehearsal is scheduled for March 24. This presentation of Requiem at Keesler affords the general public a unique opportunity to enjoy very fine sacred music.

Attendance is open to everyone at no charge.

Book Review

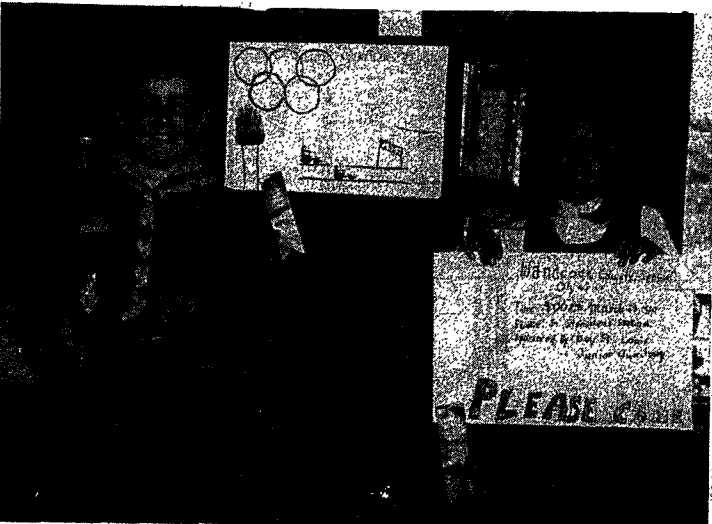

THE HARMONETICS INVESTIGATION by Gladys M. Heldman. A suspenseful, foreboding novel of the investigation of a strange cult-like group, THE HARMONETICS INVESTIGATION tells an ominous tale of betrayed faith and ultimate revenge that will keep readers riveted from first page to last.

THE FACTS OF DEATH: A COMPLETE GUIDE FOR BEING PREPARED by Michael A. Simpson. This book dispels the fears, apprehensions, and unhealthy attitudes that surround death by taking a look at what everyone should know about death and dying, including facing your own death, talking with the dying and comforting the bereaved, to reducing inheritance taxes, writing a will, and planning a funeral.

UNTIL THE SINGING STOPS by Don Gold. A celebration of life and old age in America, consisting of vignettes of twenty men and women - rural and urban, hardpressed and well-off, liberal and conservative, believing and skeptical - who attest to the opportunities of an old age well met.

THE WCBS SMOKER'S CLINIC BOOK by Art Athens. A three-week How to Quit Smoking Program - proven on the air, for people who have given up trying to quit.

LORD OF THE HOLLOW DARK by Russel Kirk. Most contemporary thrillers involve spies or detectives; Russel Kirk has written a spiritual thriller, a tale of "Evil and Sin, and other unpleasant facts." But also of Hope. In short, the old-fashioned Romantic (and Christian) mixture.

POSTER CONTEST WINNERS—Jean Larroux, left, a fourth grade student and son of Mr. and Mrs. Jean Larroux of Bay St. Louis, won first place in Bay Catholic Elementary's recent Special Olympics poster contest. Vince Pernicelli, not shown, a sixth grade student and son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Pernicelli Sr. of Bay St. Louis, won second place and Georgiana Dagnall, left, a third grade student and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Dagnall of Bay St. Louis, won third place. All events are at 8 p.m. except the concert in the mall which is at 2 p.m.

A special event will be a day honoring retiring Director of Bands, Joe Barry Mullins, April 27 highlighted by a Concert by the Symphonic Wind Ensemble and the Symphonic Band I.

April 29 the Men's and Women's Chorus will present a concert at 8 p.m.

There's an Answer!

Q. I can't think of anything that comes close to being as fulfilling, fun, interesting, demanding or as satisfying as being a mother. Not being the Queen of England, the President, or whatever. I have 4 children, ages 14 to 24, and am not needed in that area as much now. What do I do now? I have been working on positive thinking, but I need more help. In your books you say, "Get a picture of what you want to become in your mind." But what I want to do with my life, or what I can do, just seems to be blank. I hope there is a solution.

A. I wholeheartedly agree that motherhood is deeply satisfying. It is regrettable, that this fulfilling career has been underevaluated in these days of feminine liberation. Herein may lie the key to your dilemma. You rightly defend your rewarding life as a mother and yet anxiously feel the need to do something else with your life. This tune is sung to the modern American woman daily; no wonder the beat weighs heavily on you. It need not. As the mother of four, I'm sure you've pursued outside interests with them—your church, the local library, sports, music, for example. Develop these interests more broadly now that you have the time. Gradually you'll find yourself involved and stimulated, and that warm feeling of being needed will be yours again.

We are sending you our booklet, You've Got a Future! which is free to any reader of this column. Write to us at Box 500, Pawling, N.Y. 12564.

Found out the hard way

Q. Please tell me how to cope with a two-faced lying tongue. Worst of all it belongs to my daughter-in-law. I have been hurt and bewildered by her tongue so much that I don't know how to talk to her when she comes. She changes things around to suit herself and then repeats them. I was warned by my daughter that this was going on but I tried to push it aside and think different, but believe me I found out the hard way.

A. It is important to have a good relationship with your daughter-in-law as possible. If not for her, to keep in pleasant rapport with her husband, your son. Pray for her, love her as much as you can, and be not only compassionate but dispassionate, that is, without heated emotional reaction. There is a reason that she lies, if this is what she does. Try to find out why. Perhaps in time your long-suffering and understanding attitude may reach her creatively.

Wants him back

Q. My ex-husband asked for a divorce to marry a girl the age of our daughter. I have given him his wishes, but it is tearing me apart. He is 50 years old and used to be active in our church. He is hurting everyone who loves him, and I know he isn't happy. People tell me he will realize someday what a mistake he's making, and I must be strong and not take him back. They say I'll be better off without him. But I still love him. I had such wonderful years with him, and I know I could forgive and forget the past 2 years. What shall I do if he does come home?

A. Probably you are better off, as your friends say, for the man is apparently unstable. But if you love him, as you say, you would be true to your marriage vows to take him back if he should abandon his present wife. You married him "for better or for worse," and perhaps the present situation is that "worse."

However, in view of the real possibility that he does not want to come back, you should begin the process of adjusting to living without him and find a new life for yourself, which you can do if you make up your mind to it.

ARCHITECT FRED WAGNER'S 342 MAIN STREET OFFICE
(STAFF PHOTO BY WAYNE DUCOMB, JR.)

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
The Mississippi Gulf Coast Council of Garden Clubs' 33rd annual Spring Pilgrimage '80 will feature the cities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Wednesday, April 16.
The same day, in conjunction with the local Pilgrimage, the Bay-Waveland Garden Club will display entries in its 'Spring Flower Show' featuring winners in horticulture and design divisions.
Special tours of the National Space Technology Laboratories will be open to the public April 11.

The Council's tours, which also include Long Beach, Gulfport, Biloxi, Pascagoula and Gautier, are unique in that they are free and open to the public.

BAY ST. LOUIS
Three homes, an architect's office and a church will be featured in Bay St. Louis.

Beginning at 10 a.m., coffee will be served at the Bay-Waveland Garden Center at 114 Leonard Ave., Bay St. Louis.

Maps and information for local Pilgrimage events will be available at the center.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wagner's home, at 338 Main Street, will be open to the public from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. featuring entries and winners in the creativity section of the Spring Flower Show.

This 'Creole Cottage' was constructed in the late 1850's and had a service wing added in the 1880's.

The Wagner's recently restored the entire home which blends antique and modern furnishings.

Their home contains many antiques including a Mallard bed, an Empire secretary, a rolltop desk and an heirloom oak dining table.

Some 12 floral arrangements in the Spring Flower Show will be displayed in the Wagner home.

Next door to the Wagner home is Architect Fred Wagner's office which will also be open from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., displaying the flower show's invitational entries.

Wagner's 342 Main St. office is also a 'Creole Cottage,' vintage 1840, but has a different floor plan than the architect's neighboring home.

The Bay St. Louis architect restored and renovated this old home which was severely damaged by Hurricane Camille in 1969.

A sprawling live oak frames the front of Wagner's office.

The home of Mrs. C.R. Beyer at 410 Carroll Ave. will be open from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. featuring entries for the flower show's 'Tri-Color Award.'

Local Contractor Edmund Saucier constructed this two-story, Victorian home in 1900 which the Beyer's purchased 30 years ago.

The late Commander Beyer and his wife Mae collected and restored antiques which fill this 80-year-old home.

A prize possession featured in the Carroll Avenue home is a library table which has been in the Claire family (Mrs. Beyer's family) for five generations.

The Beyer home is surrounded by extensive, meticulously landscaped grounds.

Pre-paid $5 reservations are now being taken for a luncheon from 11:30 a.m. to 2 p.m., served by the Ladies Auxiliary of the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club at the club on North Beach Boulevard.

Reservations for the luncheon may be made by sending a check to the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club, P. O. Box 367, Bay St. Louis, Miss. 39520.

This Yacht Club luncheon is optional for tour participants.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. William Pittman, 226 South Beach Blvd., will be open from 2 to 5 p.m.

This home was constructed on the site of the former Christ Episcopal Church destroyed by Hurricane Camille.

Although this is a new home, it has been designed to conform with older neighboring homes.

The two-story home features a leaded glass front door, and an adjoining green house and fenced patio.

Many antiques fill this beachfront home, including a rosewood tea table, a silver and glass pickle jar, a rocker, a washbasin and stand, and handmade quilts.

Our Lady of the Gulf Church at 230 South Beach Blvd. will be open to the public from 2 to 5 p.m.

This Catholic church was built in 1908 and exemplifies a Romanesque style of architecture.

Inside the church are massive German stained glass windows and three marble altars under a ceiling some 40 feet high.

Near the church is a shrine to the Virgin Mary, established in 1853 by Father Buteux.

The original church was a Gothic structure built in 1847. The old church and girl's school was destroyed by fire in 1907.

WAVELAND

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Spurgeon C. Crosby at 209 Piney Ridge Road will also be open from 2 to 5 p.m. and is the only home on the tour in Waveland.

This modern, contemporary home has natural redwood siding, rough hewn cedar panelling in the family room and cathedral ceilings in many of the rooms.

Visitors may note a player piano, antique blue lamp and three music boxes inside the two-story home.

Upstairs is a wide hallway where Mr. Crosby houses an extensive model train collection.

FLOWER SHOW

The Bay-Waveland Garden Club will feature entries and winners of its Spring Flower Show in conjunction with Pilgrimage '80 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

The theme of this year's show is 'Open Homes—Open Hearts.' The event is a standard flower show guided by the rules and regulations of the National Council of State Garden Clubs, Inc.

Entries will be judged the day before the Pilgrimage.

The Horticulture Division will be displayed at the Garden Center and features seven sections—collections, a general category, roses, container grown plants (by advance registration only), tree and shrub branches, plectranthus australis (just for local club members) and hanging baskets (limited to 16).

Each section is eligible for a blue ribbon award.

An 'Award of Horticulture Excellence' will be given to the most superior piece of plant material in the Horticulture Division; the 'Award of Merit' will be presented to the most outstanding specimen in the general, roses, container grown plants and hanging baskets sections; an 'Arboreal Award' will be presented for the most outstanding tree or shrub branch; and the 'Sweepstakes Award' will go to the winner of the most blue ribbons in the division.

The Design Division features creativity, invitational and tri-color classes.

Some 12 'Creativity Award' entries will be displayed at the Wagner home and will consist of dried and fresh plant material and be divided into souvenir, family feasting and 'pot-pourri' classes.

'Invitational Class' entries will be shown at the Wagner office and are eligible for the 'Serendipity Award,' but the class is only open to Mississippi Coast Council of Flower Show Judges.

The three invitational classes include mobiles and stables, collages and sculptures.

The 'Tri-Color Award' also consists of three classes and entries will be displayed at the Beyer home.

Fresh plant material is required in this category which is limited to 12 special entries in three classes titled 'Welcome Home,' 'Gracious Living' and 'The Way to a Man's Heart.'

There will also be a special exhibit of different gardening horticulture publications at the Garden Center during the show and pilgrimage.

For complete information on rules and regulations for flower show entries, call Mrs. John Newkirk of Waveland, flower show chairman, at 467-9821.

Advance registration is required for all design sections and can be made by calling Mrs. Edward Brennan of Waveland at 467-9718 before April 11.

Several horticulture classes also require advance registration and can be arranged by calling Mrs. John Pritchett of Bay St. Louis at 467-7178 by April 11.

EDITOR'S NOTE: A complete pictorial display of the homes and buildings featured on the Bay-Waveland tour will be published in an upcoming issue of the Sea Coast Echo.

Mr. and Mrs. Ducre Bourgeois celebrate golden anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Ducre Wilbur Bourgeois were honored in connection with their golden wedding anniversary Sunday, March 16, at a reception at St. Clare Parish Hall.

The event was hosted by their son, J. D. Bourgeois and Mrs. Bourgeois of Pascagoula, Miss., and daughter, Mrs. Harold Foote and Mrs. Foote of Lafayette, La.

The jubilarians, with the Right Reverend Monsignor John Scanlon officiating, renewed their wedding vows and exchanged rings seated before a living background formed by their twelve grandchildren and five great-grandchildren. Seated on either side were Mr. and Mrs. Foote and Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Bourgeois.

Mrs. Ducre Bourgeois, the former Miss Mazie Carco, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Carco Sr., wore for the occasion a blue and white floral silk ensemble adorned with a golden orchid corsage.

The Golden Anniversary table was covered with satin overlaid with a white eyelid skirt and centered with a three-tier yellow cake, trimmed with white and yellow sugar spun roses and doves and topped with a bride and groom holding the golden numeral 50.

Fern enclosed the base and silver candelabras with yellow candles on either side.

On a similar covered table was featured a dark spiced cake iced in white and decorated with a blue lake and green shoreline and accented with a fisherman.

This cake was in honor of Mrs. Bourgeois.

The cakes were made by granddaughters Mrs. James Davis and Mrs. Patrick Foote. The cake was cut and served by Mrs. Foote.

The punch table was centered with an arrangement of yellow roses and scattered about the table were silver dishes of mints and peanuts.

The Bourgeois were married at St. Clare Catholic Church on St. Joseph's Day, 1930 with the late Reverend M. J. Costello performing the ceremony.

Miss Marjorie Bordages and the late Sidney Carro served as attendants.

Mr. Bourgeois is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bourgeois, a pioneer Waveland family.

Mr. and Mrs. Bourgeois are the parents of another daughter, the late Audry Bourgeois Cobb.

Those attending from out of town were - Mr. and Mrs. Harold Foote and children Madena, Latania, Laureen, Maurice Ducre and Robert Olson; Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Foote and children Nathan and Tiffany, all of Lafayette, La.; Mr. and Mrs. James Davis and children Donavon and Danielle of Alexandria, La.; Mr. Bill Cobb, Miss Sharon Cobb, Mrs. Essa Barthaui, Mrs. Cathy Evans and daughter Little Audrey, all of Orlando, Fla.; Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Bourgeois and children Cindy and Jay of Pascagoula, Miss.; Mr. Louis Lassabe Jr.; Mr. and Mrs. Martha Stiglet, all of Pass Christian and Mr. Russell Thorning of New Orleans, La.

FIRST BIRTHDAY—Ricky Brown Jr. celebrated his first birthday with a party Tuesday afternoon, March 18, at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Brown, Sr., in Waveland. A circus theme was used for the occasion. Joining in the celebration were Jody, Mark, Heather, and Brad Strong; Tracy, Tammy, Ronda, and Jerry Kennedy Jr.; Connie Fricke, Lloyd Jackson, Daphne and Larry Garcia. Mrs. Bea Kennedy, Mr. Emery Farve, Mrs. Harold Strong, Mrs. Jerry Kennedy, Sr., Ms. Marcia Jackson, Ms. Cindy Hicks, and Mrs. Buddy Storey.

Pass student named Miss Congeniality

Gulf Coast Junior College freshman Anita O'Neal of Saucier is the new Miss Perkinson Campus. The political science major was selected Thursday night from among 24 pageant entrants competing in Malone Auditorium on the Perkinson Campus.

Sophomore Marion Dedeaux was named Miss Congeniality.

She is the daughter of Mrs. Margie Dedeaux of Pass Christian.

Cindy Richards of Biloxi received the Director's Award. She is the daughter of Mrs. Joyce Richards and the late James Richards.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L.E. O'Neal, Sr., Anita was also chosen first place winner in the swimsuit competition. She is eligible to compete in the Miss Mississippi pageant in Vicksburg this summer.

Alternates include the following Perkinson Campus students:

First alternate, Gail Abrams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jo Abrams of Gulfport; second alternate, Vanessa Graham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Van Graham Jr. of Pascagoula; third alternate Lashunda Ates, daughter of Mrs. W.S. Ates of Pascagoula and the late Mr. Ates; and fourth alternate, Yvette Parker, daughter of Mrs. Irene Parker of Picayune. Parker was first place winner in talent.

Miss O'Neal was crowned by Donna Johnson of Long Beach, the 1979 Miss Perkinson Campus.

Echoes

Cathy Owen was initiated Jan. 19 into Zeta Zeta Chapter of Alpha Phi Fraternity at Murray State University, Murray, Ky. A sophomore business administration major at MSU, she is the daughter of Doug and June Davison.

Diamondhead Garden Club sets spring flower show

The Diamondhead Garden Club will present its annual spring flower show Wednesday, April 2, at the Diamondhead Country Club.

Theme of this year's event is 'The Gulf Coast-Nature's Vision of Beauty.'

Design class entries will be displayed in the Aloha Room, and horticulture entries in the lobby area.

The show will be judged at 11 a.m. and opened to the public from 2 to 4 p.m. according to Mrs. William Templett, show general chairman.

Other show chairmen include Mrs. Eric Phillpott, general co-chairman; Dr. Frances Mayfield, staging and advance entries; Mrs.

Harrie Devine, clerks; Mrs. Louis Gattipon; horticulture entries; Mrs. Chester Partridge, classification; Mrs. J. H. Johnson, acting placement chairman; and Mrs. Clarence Evans, judges.

Clerks include Mmes. Morgan Boutte, E. C. Dean, Milton Haggard, Patty McMurray and Talbot Steele.

DISTINGUISHED CITIZENS—Waveland Mayor John Longo presents Mr. and Mrs. Ducre Bourgeois a 'Distinguished Citizenship Award' at a recent Waveland Board of Aldermen meeting. The couple celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary in March. Participating in the presentation, from left, are City Attorney, Lucien Gex; Ducre Bourgeois; Aldermen Louis Smolensky; Long; Alderman Jack Toomey; Mrs. Ducre (Mae) Bourgeois; and Alderman Barbara Rappold. Bay-Waveland Garden Club members to be hostesses for NSTL Pilgrimage

Mrs. Larry Bennett, wife of the Bay St. Louis mayor, was special guest at the regular meeting of Bay-Waveland Garden Club March 20 at the Garden Center.

Mrs. Bennett requested someone from Bay-Waveland Garden Club work with the Hancock County Cleanup Committee.

Mrs. John Holmes appointed Mrs. Russell Sutton to represent and assist the Cleanup Committee.

Mrs. Holmes reported several members of the garden club will serve as hostesses at a special event offered during 1980 Spring Pilgrimage, a tour of the 138,000-acre National Space Technology Laboratories, 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Wednesday, April 9.

Mrs. Holmes received reports from Pilgrimage chairman, Mrs. Neil Jeffries; Mrs. John Newkirk, spring flower show chairman and Mrs. Lelyn Nybo, flower show schedule chairman.

Mrs. Nybo passed out flower show schedules and urged members to contact advance reservation chairmen early.

Horticulture will be at the Garden Center and floral designs will be in the home and office of Mr. and Mrs.

Fred Wagner, and the home of Mrs. C. R. Beyer. All will be judged Tuesday, April 15.

Mrs. Holmes thanked Mrs. Newkirk, Mrs. Nybo, Mrs. Clarence Evans, Mrs. Dan Russell, Mrs. John Cook and Mrs. R. W. Nease for their help on preparations for the Deep South Convention March 9-12 in Biloxi, which preceded the state convention, also in Biloxi, March 12, 13.

Mrs. Nybo reported Bay-Waveland Garden Club won three awards at the state convention, "Visiting Gardens and Pilgrimage," first place; Publicity workbook, second place; and Civic achievement, third place.

Bay-Waveland Garden Club also received a Care certificate for participating in World Gardening Project, Avenue of Magnolias.

Mrs. Clarence Evans narrated "A Fashion Forecast for America The Beautiful."

Mrs. Horatio Weston portrayed a littered area, before cleanup and after being beautified.

Mrs. Jack Mohr represented polluted water, then clear beautiful water; Mrs. Russell Sutton represented a junk yard, then presented a clean uncluttered look.

Mrs. Edward Brennan appeared as a sick droopy blue bird suffering from pollution everywhere, who suddenly appeared revived with good food and clear water after removal of all pollution.

With a shake of its tail feathers, the blue bird got the most laughs.

Mrs. Rene DeMontluzin related the story of Melissa LaGarde who was sponsored by Bay-Waveland Garden Club at a horticultural summer seminar at Mississippi State University in June, 1971.

After graduating from Bay High in 1972, Miss LaGarde continued her interest in horticulture and graduated from Mississippi State.

As a Junior college teacher in Tifton, Ga. Miss LaGarde heard of a woman who was unable to continue maintenance of her greenhouse.

Her plants were dying and the woman was so ill, she needed help.

Miss LaGarde offered her class's help and weekly they took over care and maintenance of the greenhouse which had been the women's source of income.

This little bit of kindness reached the newspapers, and a writeup was mailed to Bay St. Louis.

Bay-Waveland Garden Club members are very proud of Miss Melissa LaGarde.

Mrs. Randle Hatton, chairman, introduced hostesses Mrs. James Shaddon, Mrs. Boyce Walker, Mrs. John Cook, Mrs. J. R. Griffin, Mrs. Russell Lanham, Mrs. Fred B. Bookhardt, Mrs. J. C. Baxter, Mrs. Rene de Montluzin and Mrs. Matt C. Hunter.

After a beautification process, Mrs. Horatio Weston, formerly dressed as a littered area; Mrs. Jack Mohr, transformed from a polluted stream; Mrs. Russell F. Sutton, Formerly portraying a junkyard, and and Mrs. Edward Brennan, a happy bird.

'Fashion Forecast' presented

A skit entitled 'A Fashion Forecast for America The Beautiful' was recently presented to the Bay-Waveland Garden Club by club members during a meeting on Lehonrad Avenue in Bay St. Louis.

The skit, both comical and educational, was authored and commented by Mrs. Clarence Evans and starred Mrs. Horatio Weston as a littered area; Mrs. Jack Mohr as a polluted stream; Mrs. Russell F. Sutton as a junkyard; and Mrs. Edward Brennan as a bird.

The models entered the room in garb depicting cluttered and littered environments, but with the commentator's description, the actors uglier outfits and were "transformed" into more beautiful scenes of all of clear, blue water and grassy areas covered with flowers.

Invited guests to the show were Bay St. Louis Mayor and Mrs. Larry Bennett, Waveland Mayor and Mrs. John Longo, and Warren Carver, chairman of the Beautification Committee of Hancock County Chamber of Commerce.

BY DR. L.S. WALKER

By L. S. WALKER, D. D.
Let us share a few words with you this week about the man you call your pastor.

After all, he is perhaps the only member of your church who has no pastor!

He is one person in your church and community who has no one to speak in his behalf on many matters of vital interest to him and his family.

Jesus was the Shepherd betrayed and abandoned by His own disciples.

Moses was the divinely appointed leader of the children of Israel was ready to stone.

Paul's credentials were questioned by the very men he had led to Christ and by the very churches he had established.

It is strange, indeed, but many of God's ministering servants fare no better today!

Paul, the great apostle and missionary under whose leadership the church at Corinth was established, said to them, "I will gladly spend and be spent for you; though the more I abundantly love you, the less I am loved" - II Cor. 12:15.

Every great church is a monument to one or more great pastors; and every great pastor is a product of one or more great churches! A great pastor will strengthen and edify his church. Likewise, a great church will enhance the character and courage of her pastor.

A church cannot rise above her leadership! A pastor cannot lead those who will not follow!

When a church is blessed to have a devout and talented man whom God has called to be her pastor, that church can make his ministry much more effective by doing a few simple things:

You can build his spiritual power by praying for him regularly. When you pray for your pastor, you are praying for your church, your community, your family and your country.

Build his reputation and influence by speaking well of him.

Like everyone else, he will have strong and weak points. His influence will depend much upon which of these you stress.

Remember, the Bible says; "...know them which labor among you, and are over you in the Lord, and admonish you; And esteem them very highly in love for their work's sake..."

Embellish his leadership qualities by cooperating with him. After all you called him as the "overseer" (bishop or pastor) of the flock (Acts 20:28) who by virtue of his office is "to have the rule over you" - I Tim. 5:17; Hebrews 13:17.

ETV Briefs

TAX HELP
Two new programs designed to help viewers prepare their income tax returns this year will air on the Mississippi ETV Network at 12:30 p.m., Sunday, March 30, and at 1:30 p.m., Sunday, April 6. Produced by Mississippi ETV in cooperation with the Mississippi Society of Certified Public Accountants, the two programs, called "Tax 1040," will feature five Jackson CPA's who will discuss and interpret in detail the 1040 long form. Covered during the two 30-minute programs are changes in tax laws, explanations of terms, requirements, exclusions and instructions within the form and booklet and step-by-step assistance in filling out the form. The CPA participants also will discuss related schedules in figuring exemptions, deductions and taxable income and computing personal taxes. Joe Jones of Jones & Collins will serve as moderator. Participating in the programs will be Linda Davis of Grantham & Company; Bart Terry of DeMiller, Denny, Word & Company; Howard Turpin III of Jones & Collins and Richard Crum of Ernst & Whinney.

He is not the servant of the church. He is the servant of Christ. He is the pastor of the church - the shepherd of the flock.

Followship is as essential to a happy and productive church as is leadership.

Build his pulpit power by hearing him. Full pews challenge a man to prepare and deliver great soul-stirring sermons. Empty pews will discourage him.

But the greatest thing you can do for your minister is to ardently follow the Christ he preaches and embody His spirit.

"Be ye followers of me, even as I also am of Christ," was Paul's challenge to the church at Corinth - I Cor. 11:1.

"Obey them that have the rule over you, and submit yourselves: for they watch for your souls, as they that must give account, that they may do it with joy, and not with grief: for that is unprofitable for you" - Heb. 13:17.

If you have a "bad apple" in your pulpit unworthy of such Biblical patronage and respect; get rid of him! But in doing so, be honorable and Christian. Don't be a "dirt-dauber," you will only be proving yourself worse off than he is.

God has reserved judgment and correction for Himself. God warns us to "touch not mine anointed, and do my prophets no harm" - Chron. 16:22; Psalms 105:15.

PUBLIC NOTICE
INVITATION TO BID

To all persons interested in the following described lands in Hancock County, Mississippi, to-wit:

Section 16, Township 7 South, Range 16 West, Hancock County, Mississippi, containing 640 acres, more or less.

You are hereby notified that sealed proposals to lease for oil, gas, and mineral exploration and development of the above described lands may be filed with the Superintendent of Schools of the Poyune Municipal Separate School District in Poyune, Mississippi, on or before 7:00 p.m., on the 8th day of April, 1980, and you are invited to submit sealed bids specifying the bonus to be paid by the lessee for said lease. The form of said oil, gas, and mineral lease as prescribed by said Board of Education and the terms so prescribed, including the royalty to be retained by the lessor, the annual rental to be paid by the lessee, and the primary term of this lease, are now on file and available for inspection in the office of the Superintendent of Schools of the Poyune Municipal Separate School District in Poyune, Mississippi, where it may be inspected by all interested parties. The sealed bids submitted will be opened at 7:00 p.m. or as soon thereafter as conveniently possible, on the 8th day of April, at a regular monthly meeting of the Board of Education for said School District. The Board reserves the right to reject any and all bids but if any bid is accepted, the Board will award said oil, gas, and mineral lease to the highest and best bidder in the manner provided by law.

This, the 13th day of March, A.D., 1980.
